Monument To Be Erected Commemorating the Establishment of Government in Territory

GUTZON Borglum, American sculptor, will design and carve a $150,000 memorial to commemorate the passage of the famous Ordinance of 1787 establishing civil government in the Northwest Territory, the federal commission arranging the Northwest Territory Celebration announced on Nov. 18.

The memorial, to be constructed of native stone, will be 100 feet long and 10 feet high, and will be placed in Muskingum Park beside the Muskingum River in Marietta. The monument will be unveiled July 15, 1938, with President Roosevelt expected to attend the ceremony.

Re-enactment of historical events leading to the opening of the Northwest Territory in 1787 are included in plans for the celebration.

Twenty-two men will accompany an ox team and covered wagon that will leave Ipswich, Mass., home of Manasseh Cutler, Dec. 3, 1787, to follow the same route covered by pioneers who founded Marietta, first settlement in the Territory, 150 years ago. At the headwaters of the Ohio River they will build a boat, "The Adventure," and pilot it downstream to Marietta exactly as it was done by their earlier predecessors.

The ox team will later tour the states which comprise the Northwest Territory, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, and Wisconsin.

The twenty-two men who set out from Ipswich that December were members and representatives of the "Ohio Company of Associates" which had just concluded a contract with the Honorable Board of Treasury of the United States of America for the purchase of "one million and a half acres of land, besides the several townships, lots and parcels of land [school and church lands] hereinafter mentioned . . ." in a tract of land in southeastern Ohio specifically set forth and described in an indenture signed on October 17, 1787.

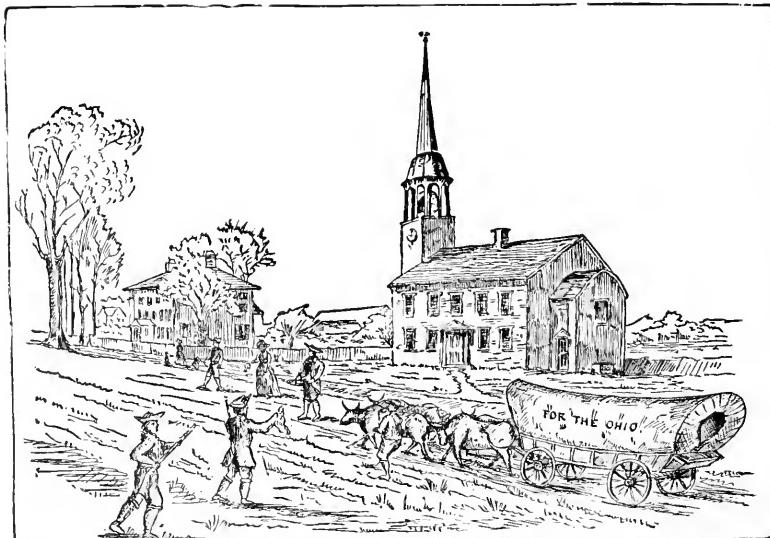

The hardy band arrived at what is now Marietta early in the summer of 1788. General Arthur St. Clair, then President of Congress, received the appointment of Military Governor provided for by the Ordinance of 1787. With three judges, also appointed by Congress, Governor St. Clair formulated measures, "Proclamations," for the government of the territory [Ohio] until the territorial legislature was created and met in 1799.

No history of Ohio University would be complete without recognizing the force and value of the Ordinance of 1787, "a measure ranking in importance with the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States." Indeed, it was said by Daniel Webster that "it is doubted whether one single law of any lawgivers, ancient or modern, has produced effects of more distinct, marked and lasting character than the Ordinance of 1787."

Although authorship of the Ordinance is generally credited to Thomas Jefferson, it is well known that Reverend Dr. Manasseh Cutler, one of the founders of Ohio University, who represented the Ohio Company in its negotiations with the Continental Congress, insisted upon so drawing that ordinance as to guarantee freedom of speech, thought and religious opinions, as well as to exclude slavery from the territory and to commit the governors of the new states to the support of schools and means of education.

It was the famous Article III which begins, "Religion, morality, and knowledge, being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and means of education shall forever be encouraged . . ." that resulted in a provision in the Ohio Company's Purchase Contract for the setting aside of two townships of land for the "purpose of an University." It also provided the background and authority for the act of Feb. 18, 1804, establishing the "Ohio University."

Y.W.C.A. Program Reaches A Peak at Christmas Season

With forty years of constructive social work behind them and a future teeming with things to be done, members of the Ohio University Y. W. C. A., an organization enrolling 500 students and faculty members, have launched an extensive Christmas program and are looking forward with enthusiasm to year-around opportunities for social service in mining town communities near Athens.

The Y. W. C. A. program is carried on by committees, under the general supervision of Rosemary Doran, Geneva senior, who, as president, is head of the Cabinet. Second in authority is Helen Miller, Toledo, another senior, Y. W. C. A. vice-president and president of the Sub-Cabinet.

During the present year one of the major social projects has been to visit mining communities and to institute in them recreation, sewing, handicraft, and health programs. Each Saturday morning a group of girls detailed by committee chairmen go to assigned localities to direct clubs and classes.

Another typical Y. W. C. A. project is of a local nature. Members pay weekly visits to shut-ins over the city of Athens. At present they have a list of eighteen elderly women upon whom they call regularly. For these ladies they render such kindly services as the writing of letters, the reading of the current news, and, in general, brightening days that might otherwise be drab and lonely.

The Y. W. C. A. carries on an extensive program at the Athens County Children's Home where it has organized such activities as Girl Scouts, Girl Reserves, and Camp Fire Girls. Each year on Valentine Day, at Easter, and at Christmas, gay celebrations are planned for the benefit of the children at the Home.

The Christmas party is one in which the girls of the "Y" take keenest delight. The needs and interests of every child are "catalogued" and presented to students on the campus who are given opportunity to select a child and act as a Christmas benefactor. Gifts carefully chosen are given to the individual children.

At the County Infirmary, too, the Christmas party is held annually, although a program of helpful and cheering activities is conducted weekly throughout the year.

In the accompanying picture, Miss Rosemary Doran is shown with a collection of dolls that have been dressed by Y. W. C. A. members and that are to be distributed to children in an Athens County mining community. Some of these children are to be seen in the picture.

Hamilton Alumnus Dies

L. D. McGinley, Sr., '94, died at his home in Hamilton, Nov. 25, after several years of ill health. He had for many years been associated with the First National Bank of Hamilton as a teller. Previous to this he had engaged in the insurance and real estate business.

Mr. McGinley leaves a wife, who was Miss Annette Wehr, '91, and two sons, L. D. McGinley, Jr., '24, formerly of the U. S. Consular Service in Rumania, now a compensation adjuster for the W.P.A., and Capt. Eugene McGinley of Leavenworth, Kansas. The deceased was a brother-in-law of Miss Amy Wehr, '95, a retired critic teacher in the Ohio University training school, and of Miss Clara Wehr, a former teacher in the Athens public schools.

Dean Chubb's Voice Recorded

The voice and words of Dr. Edwin Watts Chubb, who retired at the end of the Summer Session as dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, were mechanically recorded for posterity a few weeks before he left the campus. It was the first of a series of such recordings that will forever preserve the speaking voices of outstanding Ohio University men and women for future generations of students.

Ohio Debaters Place Second

Ohio University debaters under the direction of their coach, Lorin C. Staats, '26, (M.A. '31), associate professor of Dramatic Art and Speech, took second place in the Ohio Inter-collegiate Debate Conference held at Capital University, Columbus, Dec. 12.

Fifteen Ohio colleges and universities and one Indiana college were represented in the tournament, which is recognized as one of the outstanding forensic events in the country.

Debating on the subject "Resolved: That the several states should enact the one-house system of legislation," Muskingum College was adjudged first, Ohio University was awarded second place, while Denison, Bluffton, Wittenberg, and Heidelberg tied for third place.

In the tournament, Ohio's negative team, composed of Carl Mallow, Washington C. H., Robert Walker, Portsmouth, and Jack Meister, Athens, defeated Denison and Bowling Green, and lost to Kenyon and Ohio Northern. The affirmative team, the members of which were Donovan Zook, Akron, Lawrence Overholt, Van Wert, and Ray Keesey, Cadiz, won all of its debates, scoring victories over Baldwin-Wallace, Capital, Bowling Green, and Earlham.

Muskingum College lost only to Bowling Green, a team that was defeated on both sides by Ohio University.

Sixty-four debates were heard during the tournament, each affirmative and each negative debating four times. Professor Staats is president of the Ohio Debate Conference.

Former President Injured

In his ninety-fifth year, Dr. Charles W. Super, a former president of Ohio University, suffered a fracture of his right hip in a fall in the living room of his home in Athens on Dec. 14.

Those attending the nonagenarian, who held the executive reins at Ohio University from 1883 to 1896, and again from 1899 to 1901, expressed doubt that Doctor Super will ever walk again, but are hopeful that he will recover sufficiently to sit in a wheel chair. Advanced age and his enfeebled condition of recent months are factors which make the outlook for improvement very discouraging.

Editorial Comment . . .

ANNOYED by the injury done to one of his trees by the driver of the local bus, Rudyard Kipling once wrote a vigorous letter of complaint to the bus owner, who was also the landlord of an inn. The landlord laid the letter before the select company of the bar parlor, and was offered 10 shillings in cash for it. A second and stronger letter followed; and this also found a purchaser, at one pound.

When a wrathful Mr. Kipling entered the inn the next day, the landlord said, "Why didn't I answer your letters, sir? Why, I was hoping you'd send me a fresh one every day. They pay a deal better than bus driving!"

—The Readers Digest.

The Alumni Secretary does not believe, nor wish to imply, that his collection appeals are being marketed, but he is aware that some members of the Alumni Association have been guilty of delaying payment of their membership dues on the ground that they "wanted to see what Clark Williams would send out next."

Please, friends, let's have prompt payment. Collection efforts are expensive, and the uncertainty of income causes jitters in the Secretary's office.

An Open Letter . . .

OHIO UNIVERSITY is asking of the Governor and the Legislature for the biennium 1937-1939 the minimum amount consistent with the most economical functioning of the university. Many legitimate and pressing needs of the university which should unquestionably be met at once by adequate appropriations have not even been mentioned, in recognition of the financial problems confronting the state. But to fail to urge these minimum requirements would be to fail in the responsibility imposed upon the administration to conduct the affairs of the university with a maximum efficiency at a minimum cost.

The requests may be considered under the following budget heads:

A. PERSONAL SERVICE. Salaries at Ohio University are on the average still 15% below the 1931 level. In the higher brackets they are 25% below, and in the summer session 40% below the 1931 level. At a time when salaries in the federal government service are back to pre-depression levels; at a time when dividends and bonuses are being paid in all industries; at a time when common labor and skilled labor are receiving the highest wages ever paid, with the backing of the federal government; at a time when living costs have already risen 15% and are still rising; there is surely nothing unreasonable in asking that the university staff be put on a higher rate of pay. The requests of Ohio University under this item do not even make allowance for any increase in the salaries paid in the eight weeks summer session, which serves nearly 1500 students.

Enrollment at Ohio University is 20% higher than it was in the fall of 1934 when the last appropriation was requested. This increase in students cannot be served without serious decrease in efficiency unless a corresponding increase in staff is provided for. The teaching load is already heavier at Ohio University than in most universities of a similar size, and classes are larger than they should be for efficient teaching.

In the current university year alone, the increase in enrollment was 12½%, much larger than the increase for the state as a whole, or for the nation as a whole, showing that Ohio University is meeting a growing demand with inadequate resources.

Without considering extension and correspondence students, and figuring an eight-weeks' summer student as one-fourth of a long term student, Ohio University is this year serving 3119 students. The total appropriations for the current year, including everything, were $513,000.00. This represents a cost to the state of $164.00 per student. There is no state university anywhere in the country operating upon such an inadequate basis.

Surely there is nothing unreasonable in asking that recognition be given to this situation.

B. MAINTENANCE. For six years Ohio University has been operating on a woefully insufficient allowance for maintenance. With a physical plant valued at $4,320,000.00 there has been no money to meet the most urgent items of upkeep, with the result that the property of the state has seriously deteriorated. Not even the most pressing repairs could be properly taken care of to say nothing of ordinary renovation, such as painting and campus care. Educational supplies and equipment have been curtailed and in many cases completely omitted. Library books, the very heart of a university, have been cut down to almost nothing. That is false economy, destructive of the purposes for which the university exists. We are asking simply for sufficient funds to begin making up the losses that have occurred.

C. BUILDINGS. No buildings have been erected at Ohio University for seven years. Laboratory space is completely inadequate; class rooms cannot be found; and offices are not available for the staff. We are not even asking for such obvious needs as additional dormitories, though we had to turn away many students this fall because no living quarters were available, either in the university or in the city. We are not asking for a student building which is desperately needed. We are asking only for a science building and the renovation of the old Carnegie Library, now wholly—(Continued on page 7)

On and About the Campus . . .

AN exponent of the modern dance, Andre Pavlish, Cleveland, who has played Keith's Loew's, and Publix Paramount circuits, who has appeared with Eleanor Buchla and Ginger Rogers, who has studied with Laban in Paris, and who turned down a contract with the Parisian "Folies Bergere," is now a student at Ohio University. Interrupting his career before the footlights, Pavlish came to the University because, as he says, "I wanted more education. I wanted something upon which to build my dances—to give me a better background." From Ginger Rogers, back in 1927, when he was a headliner and she but a shy young beginner, Andre received a picture bearing these words, "To Andre, an artist, from one who wants to be." It was signed "Love and success, Ginger Rogers."

AS the philatelist prizes his stamps of limited issue, as the numismatist values his old coins, as the bibliophilist cherishes his rare editions, so do college fraternity men yearn for more and more loving cups with which to adorn the mantels of their chapter houses. In the accompanying picture are to be seen a few of the trophies won in various competitions by Sigma Pi fraternity. Standing proudly in the background is John H. Reid, '36, president of last year's chapter.

STATE TAX laws and the new federal social security enactments are causing headaches among Ohio University's fraternity and sorority presidents, treasurers, and house managers. Since the repeal of the Ohio sales tax on food, the State Tax Commission has ruled that Greek letter boarding clubs must secure vendor's licenses, and charge and collect a tax on each meal served. Books must be kept and be open for inspection. What seems to have more serious financial import, however, is the fact that under the social security laws it will be necessary for all members of Greek letter organizations who serve their groups for cash, or its equivalent (board, room, membership dues, etc.), to register under the Old Age pension plan and to contribute to the general fund. Also, when there are 8 or more members of any fraternity or sorority so employed the organization will be taxed for the benefit of the unemployment fund.

BECAUSE of the large number of absences from classes immediately before and after the recent Thanksgiving vacation, a committee, representative of the university administration and the student body, has been appointed to consider vacation problems and to recommend a definite policy on class "cuts" to be universally applied by members of the teaching staff.

EARL S. Haller, Jr., Athens, senior, was elected vice president of Phi Tau Theta, national Methodist Church fraternity, at a conclave of that body held in Lincoln, Nebraska, Nov. 26-28. The fraternity was founded in 1925 and is now represented by ten chapters. Next year the national conclave will be held at Ohio University.

MORE than 250 couples in formal attire danced to the music of Ace Brigode and his Virginians in the Men's Gymnasium, Dec. 12, at the first Ohio University Snow Ball, official social function of the Senior Class. Chosen queen by popular vote at the dance, Vera Scholl, Bremen, was presented with a huge bouquet of red roses by Robert Boulware, Hillsboro, class president.

CONTRARY to claims of several other institutions, Ohio University was the first school in the United States to establish a teacher training department, according to Prof. T. N. Hoover, '05, who has unearthed some interesting facts in his Ohio University historical research activities. The Massachusetts Normal School, at Lexington, opened in 1839, has long claimed the distinction. However, reports Researcher Hoover, a normal department was added to the divisions of Ohio University and was in active operation as early as 1837.

TEN undergraduates were initiated into membership in Ohio University's chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary education fraternity on Dec. 8. The new Kappa Delta Pi's are: Mary M. Bennett, Lucasville; Albert G. Bergesen, Valley Stream, N. Y.; Edith M. Bowen, Pomeroy; Jane E. Cline, Athens; Mary Jane Curtiss, Mansfield; Betty B. Howe, Nelsonville; Earl E. Kelley, Athens; Lucille G. Mallett, Lewisville; Grace L. Sammons, Steubenville; and Hazel M. Young, Bridgeport.

DUST of the Road," a play in which Dean Irma E. Voigt appeared as a pipe-smoking tramp, was a part of the annual Christmas program presented Dec. 13 in Alumni Memorial Auditorium by the Y.W.C.A.

THE names of fifteen Ohio University seniors were included in the 1936-37 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities," recently published. Last year eight students were named. Selections are made after careful consideration with university administrators and student government officials.

Dean and Council of the Graduate College Develop Regulations for Advanced Study

UNDER the direction of Dean Walter S. Gamertsfelder, and a Graduate Council composed of eleven members of the faculty, Ohio University's new Graduate College has been organized in response to a rapidly increasing demand from teachers and persons in other professions that the University provide facilities for advanced study. For many years the University has had a teaching staff trained in the best graduate schools of this and other countries, and a limited amount of graduate work was offered before the organization of the Graduate College. Not until this year however have the curricular offerings of the departments and schools been planned with a view to providing adequate facilities for work leading to the Master's degree.

The Graduate College will confer the degrees of Master of Arts, Master of Science, Master of Education and Master of Fine Arts. In addition there is the degree of Master of Arts in Supervision and Guidance of Student Life, which will be given upon completion of a course designed for supervisors of girls and deans of women.

Because of the increasingly large number of alumni who are pursuing advanced studies, or are planning to do so, the Editor feels that the publication of some of the regulations covering such work at Ohio University will be of sufficient interest to warrant extended mention in The Ohio Alumnus. The following, therefore, while it may be in the nature and style of "catalog" material, is reproduced for the information and guidance of any persons interested.

Application for admission to the Graduate College should be made on a blank obtainable from the office of the Registrar, and, unless the student is a graduate of Ohio University, should be accompanied by an official transcript of the applicant's college record. Students may be registered in the Graduate College without becoming candidates for graduate degrees. Admission to the college, therefore, does not of itself constitute admission to candidacy for a degree.

At least thirty-two semester hours of credit are required for the Master's degree. Transfer students are required to complete at least twenty-four semester hours of credit at Ohio University. Courses taken by correspondence will not be accepted for credit toward the Master's degree. A maximum of six semester hours taken in group extension will be accepted toward the Master's degree provided these courses are conducted by instructors who regularly teach them when offered on the campus.

An adequately prepared student should be able to complete the work for the Master's degree in one year of two semesters, in four eight-week summer sessions, or in three eleven-week summer sessions, after securing a bachelor's degree. Transfer students are required to have a minimum residence at Ohio University of one semester and one eight-week summer session, or at least twenty-four weeks, provided that the other requirements for the degree are satisfied. The maximum time allowed between the date of admission to candidacy and the date when graduate credit for the degree will be accepted is five years. The fees for graduate students are the same as those for undergraduates.

In order to be admitted to candidacy for the Master's degree, it is necessary that a student show his ability and fitness to pursue graduate work in his chosen field. If the student has an undergraduate record with an average grade of "B" or better, and an equally high grade in the subjects which he plans to pursue for graduate credit, he may apply for candidacy immediately after he has been admitted to the Graduate College. In case he does not qualify under these conditions he may, upon the completion of a part of his program of study with satisfactory grades and upon the recommendation of his adviser, make application for candidacy. Application for candidacy should be made on a date not less than four months before the degree is to be conferred.

It is to the advantage of the student, as well as to the university, that standards be maintained at a reasonably high level. Accordingly, only work of high quality is accepted for graduate credit. The minimum standard acceptable is an average grade of "B," with no grade below "C," and not more than twenty per cent of the work with a grade of "C."

The student's program of study will be divided in most cases between subjects in the major field and subjects in the minor field. The program in the major field will vary from twelve to twenty credit hours, exclusive of the thesis; from four to eight hours credit are allowed on the thesis. The minor field in such cases will make up the remainder of the thirty-two hours required for the degree, and will be selected from one or two departments closely related to the major field. However, all of the work for the Master's degree may be done in one department or school on recommendation of the adviser and with the approval of the Graduate Council.

DEAN WALTER SYLVESTER GAMERTSFELDER

A graduate student working toward the Master's degree at Ohio University has the opportunity of doing his work under the direction of a faculty adviser selected from the department or school in which he does his major work. The adviser counsels with the student regarding his interests and needs, assists him in outlining his program of studies in the major and minor fields, and advises him in his preparation for admission to candidacy, in his research project, and throughout the preparation of his thesis.

As a means both of training the student and of testing his knowledge and skill, each candidate is expected, as a partial fulfillment of the requirements for the Master's degree, to pass creditably two examinations, one oral and one written, and to submit a thesis upon a subject approved by the adviser and the Graduate Council. The written examination is of approximately four hours duration, the time being divided between the subjects of the major and minor fields. The oral examination, approximately two hours in length, is conducted by a committee appointed by the Dean of the Graduate College from the staff of the departments or schools in which the candidate has done his work.

The candidate prepares his thesis under the direction of his adviser on a subject in the field of his major work. The thesis provides an opportunity for the student to formulate and express the results of his research and study. For students who desire to avail themselves of the instruction, a course on thesis writing is offered by the Department of English. The thesis may vary in character from an extended essay, representing critical reading, independent study and the assimilation and interpretation of a considerable body of facts, to an account, sometimes more brief, describing a research project which makes some contribution to knowledge. From four to eight hours credit is allowed on this part of the student's program. Three typewritten copies of the thesis, typed and bound in accordance with a format on file in the office of the Dean of the Graduate College, are required of the student.

The fields of instruction in which graduate work may be pursued include: Commerce and Business, Agriculture, Botany, Chemistry, Civil Engineering, Classical Languages, Dramatic Art, Economics, Education and School Administration, Electrical Engineering, English, Geography, German, Government, History, Home Economics, Industrial Arts, Journalism, Mathematics, Music, Painting and Allied Arts, Philosophy, Physical Welfare, Physics, Psychology, Romance Languages, Sociology, Speech, and Zoology.

Ohio University offers fifteen Graduate Teaching Fellowships for students who have received a baccalaureate degree from an approved college or university. These fellowships carry an annual stipend of $350.00 each, and the fellow is required to give one-third to one-half of his time to teaching or laboratory supervision, or both, in the department of his major work. Fellows will be expected to carry one-half of the normal load of graduate work. These fellowships are awarded annually about April 15. Applications for a fellowship should be made on a form obtainable from the office of the Dean of the Graduate College not later than April 1.

Graduate teaching fellowships are normally available in the following fields. Art, Botany, Chemistry, Classical Languages, Economics, Commerce, Education, English, History, Industrial Arts, Home Economics, Journalism, Mathematics, Modern Foreign Languages, Music, Physics, Psychology, Sociology, and Zoology.

Five positions are open annually for Graduate Student Deans. The appointees receive a stipend of $350.00 each and are expected to assist the Dean of Women and to carry half-time work leading to the Master's degree. Applicants must have majored in the social sciences. Application for one of these appointments should be made directly to the Dean of Women, or to the Dean of the Graduate College, not later than April 1.

Cleveland Alumni To Dance

A dance for Ohio University friends, alumni, and undergraduates of the Greater Cleveland area, to be held Saturday night, Jan. 2, at the Hollenden Hotel, has been announced by John O. McWilliams, president of the Western Reserve Alumni Chapter. The dance will be held immediately following the Ohio-Ohio Wesleyan basketball game on the same evening. A nominal admission fee of fifty cents will be charged.

A Real Depression College

"The Carnegie Library in Homestead, Pa., has become the 'campus' of a 'depression university' attended by more than 500 young men and women. The 'university' began modestly in 1932, when six young people decided to study together, with a local minister as their teacher. More and more students joined the group, until classes outgrew the church and moved into the library. There, in addition to 40,000 books, the students have at their disposal eight classrooms, an auditorium with theatrical equipment, a gymnasium and a swimming pool. Evening classes of college standard are conducted by 15 trained instructors; most of them are voluntary, some are PWA workers. No fees are charged for admission to any course; and when money is needed for textbooks that the library cannot provide, the students raise it by giving dances or entertainments."

The "local minister" who is referred to in the foregoing paragraph, which appeared in the Journal of Adult Education and was reprinted in the current number of Readers Digest, is REV. HODGE M. EAGLESON, '16.

An Open Letter . . .

(Continued from page 4)—unsuited for any use. With less than that we cannot provide the students with their most pressing needs. Cutler Hall, now 120 years old, is a wonderful historical monument as the oldest college building in the Northwest territory. It is not safe as a class room building. Yet we have to use it because there is no other space.

In short, in recognition of the difficult financial situation with which the state is faced, we are asking for appropriations for operating the university which will represent a cost to the state of only $230.00 per student, if we have no additional students whatever. We challenge comparison for economy of operation on that basis with any state university, in the land, of 3000 students or more. We are asking for additions and betterments, only the irreducible minimum for providing class room space for the students we now have. Are these not reasonable requests?

HERMAN G. JAMES,
President.

Basketeers Off to Good Start in Court Race; Swimming Team Goes South on Training Trip

By KEN DUNN, '34

THHEY'RE calling them the Houdinis of the Hardwood. These "now you see it and now you don't" passing artists on the Ohio University basketball team this winter, and they're picking them to win the Buckeye floor crown. To date, the Ohio eagles have defeated Bliss 55-20, Glenville State Teachers 49-40, and Marietta 40-31 in three starts for an offensive average of 48 points per evening. They gamble their reputation in tackling about the stiffest competition in the state on their Christmas holiday jaunt to the northern sections, playing Western Reserve, Baldwin-Wallace, Akron Goodyear, and Ohio Wesleyan on successive nights starting Dec. 30, in Cleveland.

What the Bobcats do in those four nights of trying competition will be highly indicative of their performances throughout the rest of the season, although it may be too much to hope that they will win all four of the games. Playing each of the teams individually with time to rest between games, the Bobcats might whip the quartet of them—they are that good—but meeting them on successive nights is a strenuous assignment that few teams in the nation could accept without a defeat. If they can marshall two victories on the trip it will have been a successful one.

In the three games the Bobcats have played thus far there has been a noticeable improvement in the play of several of the members. Nick Lalich, all-Ohio center last year, is deader than ever on his hook shots and at present is pacing the other Bobcats in individual scoring, with 41 points. That is 18 more points than he had at this time last season. Malokas is playing a better floor game, though he hasn't quite found his shooting eye yet. Hood, who is flashier than ever, is stealing the ball from opponents and getting away for "sleepers." Gene Rinta and Pete Shingleton have both improved since last season.

It is impossible to point the finger at any one man and say that he is the star of the Ohio team this season. Coach Grover's style of play this year is too well balanced and depends too much on teamwork for any individual to stand out from the rest. Proof of this is seen in the fact that in each of the three games played there has been a different Bobcat at the head of the scoring column. Malokas was high point man against Bliss with 12 points, Hood led the attack on Glenville with 17 points, and Lalich was the big gun against Marietta with 19 of Ohio's 40 points.

Observations made of the Buckeye teams thus far indicate that Ohio, Marshall, and Miami are the class of the conference. Ohio Wesleyan and Cincinnati, co-champions last winter, have been ripped apart through graduation and are finding the going extremely tough in their early games. However, Ray Detrick always gets his Bishops moving at a fast pace when the Buckeye teams are met, and no one is counting them out as yet. Dayton has a sophomore team that is little known, but is not looked upon as a real threat for the title.

Marshall, with a trying 31-game schedule, has been playing along the Atlantic seaboard thus far and reports are that the Herd has its best basketball team this year. It is the most improved team in the loop and appears as a very definite contender. Miami, like Ohio, has a veteran quintet this season that has shown potential power in the early games. The Redskins were coming along fast at the close of the 1935-36 campaign and will cause considerable trouble in the Buckeye race this winter.

While the basketball team will have to be "hot" to make a showing against the opposition they will meet along Lake Erie, Coach Jerry Hughes and 20 Ohio University swimmers will be in training under a Florida sun at Ft. Lauderdale. The swimming caravan, five automobiles and a trailer, left Athens on Sunday, Dec. 19, and expected to arrive at Ft. Lauderdale on Tuesday, Dec. 21. They will stay at the Aquatic Clinic there during the entire Christmas vacation period, returning to Athens for the re-opening of school on Jan. 4.

During their stay in Ft. Lauderdale, the Bobcat swimmers will participate in daily practice and lecture periods with other colleges and universities representing the best swimming teams in the nation. The clinic is sponsored by the Ft. Lauderdale Chamber of Commerce and is under the direction of Sam Ingram, swimming coach at Colgate University.

The Ohio swimmers helped meet their expenses by staging the "Errors of 1936," a male musical comedy put on by the Varsity "O" Club, with Bobcat footballers making up the chorus. The swimmers also sponsored a show at a local theater in an effort to make the individual expense of each member as low as possible. It is the longest trip an Ohio University athletic team has ever made and it will likely be one of the most enjoyable. The Chamber of Commerce at Ft. Lauderdale has arranged a series of entertainments for the visiting natators including dances, banquets, sight-seeing trips, deep sea fishing, and ocean bathing. On the return trip the team will make a complete circuit of Florida, coming back along the west coast of the state through Georgia, Tennessee, and Kentucky.

In addition to the 20 swimmers who are making the trip there are Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Hughes and their son, Tommy, Prof. and Mrs. George W. Clark, and Roger Jones of Athens.

Here and There Among the Alumni

GROSVENOR S. MCKEE, '16, former secretary of the Ohio University Alumni Chapter in Philadelphia and recently elected secretary and trustee of the Ohio society of Philadelphia, has resigned his position as production manager of the Baldwin-Southwark Corp., a subsidiary of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, to accept the general superintendence of the Globe-Wernicke Co., Cincinnati. Mr. McKee has been with the Baldwin-Southwark Co., for four years. Prior to that time he was with the Timkin Bearing Co., Canton, as production manager, and for two years was superintendent and production manager of the Grigsby-Grunow Co., in Chicago. He was also at one time vice president of the D. A. Ebinger Mfg. Co., in Columbus. Friends of Mr. McKee will be pleased to know of this latest advancement in the field of industrial engineering and management.

Fresh from the press of the American Book Co., has come a profusely illustrated and carefully edited volume bearing the title "The Pond Book," which is the joint product of WALTER P. PORTER, '24, supervising critic in Biology and General Science at Athens High School, and Dr. E. A. Hansen, professor of Elementary Education and director of Ohio University's Rufus Putnam School. Many of the illustrations are photographs taken by Mr. Porter himself. Doctor Hansen collaborated in making the reading matter appealing to young minds, with the result that it is recreational as well as educational. This is the first of a series of two books. The second will appear shortly and will be entitled "Fields and Fence Rows."

DR. W. RAY SMITTLE, '26, has accepted a position in Wayne University, Detroit, as assistant professor of Education. Wayne University was organized in 1934 by the consolidation of a number of colleges in Detroit and is the only institution of higher education in the United States that is controlled by the same board as the public schools. The annual student enrollment exceeds 12,000, with more than 6,000 full-time students and over 600 faculty members. After receiving his M. A. degree at Ohio State University, Mr. Smittle served for three years in the department of Education at Muskingum College. While working on his doctorate at Ohio State he was Educational Adviser to Urbana Junior College. Upon the receipt of the Ph. D. degree he went to the University of Detroit, where in addition to his work, he was Educational Adviser to Nazareth College, St. Mary's College, and Catholic Junior College. Doctor Smittle is the husband of the former Miss RUTH GORDON, '25.

If you want to learn some interesting things about ARTHUR A. BRAINERD, '15, just turn to Page 372, center column, of the current issue of "Who's Who in America." There, among other things, you will find that for two years he was head of the Engineering Department of the State Trade School, Danbury, Conn.; that for four years he was an instructor in Illuminating Engineering at the University of New Hampshire; that for eight years he was an illuminating engineer for the Philadelphia Electric Co., and that "My daddy says Merry Christmas and Happy New Year to everybody—and he hopes you will all remember to pay up your alumni membership dues so it will be a Happy New Year for the Alumni Association. He gets pretty worried sometimes, but I think everything will be all right."

—Barbara Marie Williams

since 1934 he has been engineer and director of the Lighting Service Division of the P. E. C. He is a frequent contributor to magazines and technical publications and a lecturer on engineering subjects. A member of many engineering societies, he is at the present time the U. S. representative on the International Committee on Illumination. He is the husband of the former Miss ZELLA KNOLL, '14, and the father of Elizabeth Brainerd, a sophomore in Ohio University.

An Ohio University woman, Mrs. David Reeder (MARIAN BUSH SNYDER, '24x), who once had the honor of skating in an ice ballet before the Duke and Duchess of York, now King and Queen of Great Britain, and of meeting their majesties thereafter, pronounces the new rules "tops." Mrs. Reeder, editor of the Woman's Page of the Athens Messenger, was resident of London for several years. The ballet in which she appeared was a part of a skating carnival held for the purpose of raising money for a London hospital. Of the Queen, Mrs. Reeder says: "She is a darling. She is very gracious, very unaffected, and most charming." Of the King: "He'll do all the correct things—make the Christmas Eve fireside broadcast; follow the cabinet's advice, and be a model king."

Because a baby son, born Dec. 12, to MICHAEL C. KREIDER, '30, and Mrs. Kreider (ALICE E. BEERS, '30, 2-yr.), happened to be the 700th baby ushered into the world at White Cross Hospital, Columbus, since Jan. 1, 1936, the young man was presented with a crisp ten dollar bill by Dr. Frank G. Fowler, superintendent of the hospital. Among the 700 babies, the sexes were almost equally represented: 343 boys, and 357 girls.

IRENE M. GILLESPEY, '30, instructor in Applied Art at the University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo., received a master's degree in Fine Arts at Columbia University this summer. Another master's degree of recent date is that awarded to EDWIN N. COOPER, '30, by Ohio State University. Mr. Cooper, formerly a teacher in Newcomerstown, has been a commerce teacher in John Simpson Junior High School, Mansfield, for the past three years.

HARLEY M. "Dutch" LITTLER, '24, known principally for his successful coaching at South High School, Youngstown, is more than a coach, he is a magician. He began toying with the art of deception as a hobby and now finds himself ranking with the professionals. So, crossing the Atlantic last summer on the Bremen (to study and to attend the Olympic Games) and returning on the Europa, he was called upon to give performances as a part of the ships' entertainment programs. He is a member of the Magicians' Union, has paraphernalia valued at more than $300, and has been asked to teach a hobby class in magic at New York University next summer.

HERMAN W. HUMPHREY, '27, is the new principal of The Plains High School, succeeding D. F. Pullin, who resigned to take a position at State Teachers College, Flagstaff, Ariz. ALLEN CREE, M. A. '35, who taught in Flagstaff High School last year, has come to The Plains High School staff to serve under Principal Humphrey. MARIE KLEINSCHMIDT, '32, (M.A. '34), for several years assistant in the office of the Director of Teacher Training, has this fall accepted a position on the instructional force of the teachers college at Flagstaff.

JAMES E. PATTERSON, '30, son of a former Athens city school superintendent, graduated with honors from the Columbia University School of Medicine last summer. Another Ohioan to complete work at Columbia this summer was PAUL L. YOUNG, '31, who received a master's degree for work in the field of music education, with emphasis in voice. Mr. Young has returned to Mercersburg Academy, Mercersburg, Pa., as music supervisor.

Agnes Counihan as secretary in the Bureau of Appointments, and William A. Harmon as bookkeeper in the Treasurer's Office, were two members of the Class of 1936 to receive appointments to administrative staff positions at their alma mater this year. Mr. Harmon is the young man pictured on the opposite side of the page.

COUNIHAN, '36 Using as stepping stones editorial staff positions on the Painesville Telegraph, the Canton Repository, and the Portsmouth Times, LAWRENCE G. HAUCK, '33, has now arrived at a responsible position with the Detroit Free Press. Keep going, Larry.

Another Ohio University alumnus to be credited with a book during the current year is EMERSON LANGFITT, '20, an instructor in the School of Education, New York University, who collaborated with two others in producing "The Small High School at Work," which has lately come from the press of the American Book Co.

Mrs. Willis D. Maggins (GERTRUDE O'CONNOR, '12 & '14), of Rock Hill, S.C., is a former president of the South Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs. She received a master's degree from Columbia University in 1916.

If you live in the neighborhood of Poland, Ohio, (Youngstown, Campbell, Struthers, Canfield, etc., take note) and are in need of flowers at any time, just remember that Mrs. Salisbury A. Miles (OLA STRONG, '25), and her husband have recently opened a flower and novelty shop at 6 Boardman Rd., Poland.

A stick of dynamite—enough to blow them to bits—in the rear seat of their car was the disconcerting discovery of PROF. T. N. HOOVER, '05, and Prof. Albert C. Gubitz, both of the Ohio University faculty, as they got into the former's automobile in front of Ells Hall on a recent afternoon. Probably it was placed there as a joke, for there was no cap or fuse attached, but it likely required several minutes for the two discoverers to fully appreciate any humor in the situation. Police Chief EDWIN S. FINSTERWALD, '17, took possession of the unwelcome gift and deposited it in the city's dynamite magazine on North Hill.

Memorial High School at Campbell, Ohio, where the youthful strikers were routed by police using tear gas bombs, has been reinstated in his position as a high school instructor and Senior Class adviser after being transferred to a grade school. The high school students protested, and refused to attend classes for three days. Several hundred students were engaged in picketing the school when police broke up the demonstration.

After five years as editor of the Galion Inquirer, CHARLES ETSINGER, '30, one-time editor of the Green and White, has resigned to accept a position in the personnel relations division of the American Rolling Mills Co., at Middletown. Etsinger was a member of the first class to be initiated into the Ohio University chapter of Phi Beta Kappa upon its establishment in the spring of 1929.

Mrs. R. E. Porterfield (ANNA BARTON, '88), Spokane Wash., is already looking forward to 1938, when she anticipates returning to the campus for the fiftieth anniversary of her graduation. Of the eleven original members of her class, Mrs. Porterfield will miss H. C. ADAMS, DR. ALBERT LEONARD, ATTORNEY A. E. PRICE, DR. E. B. SKINNER, and the late JUDGE L. G. WÖRSTELL.

After two highly successful years as basketball coach at Smithfield High School, HARRY LACKEY, '33, former basketball star and all-Buckeye guard, took the football coaching assignment last season and captured the title of the league in which his team competes. The season's record was six victories out of nine games.

Ohio University alumni dominate the picture as far as executive positions in the Athens Chamber of Commerce are concerned. H. C. BOBO, '19, Division Manager of the Southern Ohio Electric Co., is president, while P. F. GOOD, '26, manager of the Lawhead Press, is vice president. GORDON K. BUSH, '24, T. M. WOLFE, '19, and FRED H. BECKLER, '08x, are three of the five directors.

Another Ohioan who was able to nail his colors to a political masthead as the result of the recent election was LOWELL W. DICKASON, '28, 2-yr., who will serve Jackson County (Ohio) as its engineer for the next term.

DR. WILLARD BRUGLER, '29, who has just finished his appointment as resident physician at University (of Maryland) Hospital, Baltimore, is remaining at the hospital on a medical fellowship which will permit him to do research in cardiology.

J. ALLEN CHASE, '28, chief of the Accounting Section, the National Fertilizer Association, Washington, D. C., has recently been elected to membership in the American Trade Association Executives, and secretary of the Washington alumnae group of Delta Sigma Pi, a national honorary commerce fraternity.

ROSE MARIE DARST, '26, who with MARY A. STALDER, '29, is a member of the Art Department at Kansas State College, Manhattan, was re-elected national secretary of Delta Phi Delta, honorary art fraternity, at the organization's convention held in Kansas City, Mo., last June.

Just twenty years after graduation from Ohio University, in 1916, CHARLES R.

FISHER, instructor in Biology in South High School, Youngstown, sends a replacement to the campus in the person of a daughter, Carolyn, who is now a freshman in University College.

FRED PICKETT, '19x, with his wife and daughter, Joan, of Bangkok, Siam, are the Christmas Holiday guests in Athens of Mr. Pickett's sister, Mrs. H. L. Steenrod (HELEN PICKETT, '14, 2-yr.). Mr. Pickett is a missionary and this is his first visit home in seven years. He was first sent to French Indo-China, going to Bangkok two years ago.

Just what do you do with your spare time, Mr. Old? During the day time JOEL CALVIN OLDT, '11, is a teacher, for his twelfth year, in the public schools of the City of Euclid; at night he gives his attention to a night school in Cleveland, of which he is owner and principal; and on stated occasions he serves the community of Wickcliffe as a member of its Board of Education, a position he has held for the past five years.

GEORGE P. GINN, '92, for many years postmaster at Ashland, Ky., is now secretary-treasurer of the Henry Clay Hotel Co., operating the hotel of that name in Ashland.

It's now "Your Honor," if you please. GEORGE N. GRAHAM, '17, former prosecuting attorney of Stark County and a leading attorney of Canton, was elected Judge of the Stark County Court of Common Pleas on Nov. 3.

O'Keeffe Junior High School, a school enrolling 1,700 pupils and recognized as "the leading junior high school in the Southeast," is headed by STANLEY M. HASTINGS, '15, who has been principal since the school's organization some ten years ago.

FRANK C. WILSON, brother of DR. HIRAM ROY WILSON, '96, of the Ohio University faculty, died at his home in Hamden, Nov. 28.

With a background of thirteen years of experience in active business and financial management as well as commercial school teaching, PERCY C. PICKARD, '22, has recently been appointed business manager of Youngstown College.

MARGARET "Peggy" FARMER, '35, has been awarded a scholarship in the School of Drama at the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. Miss Farmer is a member of the Playhouse Group in her home city of Dayton, and recently played one of the leading roles in "The Perfect Alibi," produced by the Dayton organization. In Cincinnati Miss Farmer will live in the Three Arts Club, near the Conservatory.

Looking forward to active service with the U. S. Marine Corps, ROBERT STACY, '36, is undergoing a special course of training in the Marine Corps Basic School in Philadelphia. At this school all Marine officers are required to train for six months or longer, before receiving assignments afloat or ashore.
